Use the Articles/Database quick search box to quickly find information in some of our databases. If you do not find the results that you need, try your search in another database.
To access the library resources that have been organized by subject or by class click on the Research Guides tab.

The ENGL1010 research guide is designed to show students how to find books, find articles, cite sources, find reliable information on the Internet and describes the Library Research Award Competition.
Locate Print and Electronic Books

Use the Finding Books tab to search CCC’s Library Catalog.

The Library Catalog first searches the material available in the CCC Library collection then expands its search to other libraries. Please note which library search is chosen.

If you are not able to come to campus then we encourage you to take a look at the Electronic Books-ebrary search box.

Use the Reference Materials box to find background information about your topic. Gale Virtual Reference Library contains subject specific reference material while Encyclopedia Britannica Academic Edition is a general encyclopedia that covers many topics.

Locate Articles

Use the Finding Articles tab to access our databases to find articles.

The General Databases box lists 2 databases that cover all subject areas. If you would like to see complete list of databases, use the subject-specific databases link in the Subject Databases box.

- ProQuest Research Library
  Search for coverage of a broad range of subjects including arts, business, children, education, general interest, health, humanities, international, law, military, multicultural, psychology, sciences, social sciences, and women's interests.

- Academic Search Complete
  Comprehensive scholarly, multi-disciplinary full-text database, with more than 7,400 full-text periodicals, including more than 6,800 peer-reviewed journals.

The Current Issues box lists databases that can help you with your argumentative papers, as well as help you find a current topic if you are having trouble thinking of one. CQ Researcher covers topics in-depth with a new report published each week. Gale Opposing Viewpoints and Points of View Reference Center provide essays and articles to support both sides of an argument on a topic.

- CQ Researcher
  Provides analysis of issues in the news, including health, social trends, criminal justice, international affairs, education, the environment, technology and the economy.

- Gale Opposing Viewpoints in Context
  Contextual information and opinions on hundreds of today’s hottest social issues. It features continuously updated viewpoint articles, topic overviews, full-text magazines, academic journals, news articles, primary source documents, statistics, images, videos, audio files and links to vetted websites.

- Points of View Reference Center
  Points of View Reference Center is a full text database designed to provide students and schools with a series of controversial essays that present multiple sides of a current issue. Essays provide questions and materials for further thought and study and are accompanied by thousands of supporting articles from the world’s top political and societal publications.
The Journal Locator search allows you to enter a publication title and find out if the databases contain the publication. This is very useful if you have found a citation of an article and you need to get the actual article. Remember, if we do not have the publication in our databases, we can borrow the material through Interlibrary Loan. Use the Interlibrary Loan link on the Library page in MyCCC.
